WELCOME TO TEZORO

A treasure, made to measure.

Tezoro takes its name from tesoro, the word for treasure. We are a premium men's tailoring house and wedding atelier in Pothencode, created for men who would rather be measured than matched to a rack.

Every Tezoro garment begins with a conversation and ends with a final fitting. In between, it is cut, sewn and finished for one man only. Nothing is repeated, and nothing leaves the atelier until it fits.

Under one roof you will find bespoke suits, shirts and trousers for every day, and a dedicated wedding floor where grooms and their families can plan the most important outfits of their lives in private, at their own pace.

We believe a well-made garment changes how a man stands, walks and feels. That belief is the whole of our business.

OUR PHILOSOPHY

Off the rack, a hundred men can own the same shirt. At Tezoro, every piece is made to belong to one man, and only him.

I

One man, one look

No duplicates, ever. Your cut, cloth and details are recorded for you alone, so you will never meet your suit on someone else.

II

Crafted by hand

Premium cloth, precise measurement and expert finishing by tailors who have spent years at the bench.

III

The wedding destination

A dedicated floor for grooms, families and celebrations, from engagement to reception.

IV

Time for you

A boutique pace. Appointments are private, unhurried and built around your calendar.

WHAT WE MAKE

From the first suit to the wedding day.

Bespoke suits

Two- and three-piece suits, blazers and tuxedos, cut from a pattern drafted for you.

Shirts

Formal and casual shirts in cotton, linen and poplin, with your choice of collar and cuff.

Trousers

Formal trousers and chinos with a balanced drape and a clean break.

Sherwanis & bandhgalas

Wedding and festive wear, from classic sherwanis to Jodhpuri bandhgalas.

Kurtas & Indo-western

Kurta sets, jackets and modern Indo-western pieces for every occasion.

Alterations & aftercare

Re-fitting, repairs and refreshing of Tezoro garments for as long as you wear them.

YOUR PATTERN, KEPT ON FILE

Every Tezoro suit begins as a paper pattern drafted for one man, and kept for every order after.

Also at Tezoro: ties, pocket squares, cufflinks, stoles and safas, chosen to finish each look.

TEZORO
WEDDING

The day you'll always remember.

The Tezoro Wedding floor is a private space for the groom, his family and his closest friends. Bring your ideas, your colours and your rituals; we bring the cloth, the craft and the calm.

For the groom

Sherwanis, bandhgalas, three-piece suits and reception tuxedos, for every function from engagement to reception.

For the family

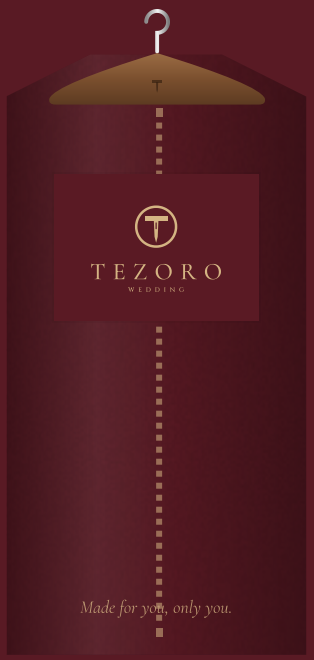

Coordinated looks for fathers, brothers and groomsmen, in one palette and one fitting schedule.

Private consultation

A dedicated hour on the wedding floor to plan each outfit, choose cloth and set fitting dates.

Finished together

Safas, stoles, mojaris, cufflinks and buttons chosen with the outfit, delivered as one.

CONSULTATIONS BY APPOINTMENT

THE TEZORO PROCESS

Five steps, one garment.

Bespoke takes a little longer than buying off the rack. Here is how your time is spent, and why it is worth it.

1

Consultation

We talk about the occasion, your style and how you like to wear your clothes.

2

Measurement

More than twenty measurements and notes on posture, recorded in your Fitting Book.

3

Cloth & details

Choose cloth, lining, buttons, lapels and pockets, with guidance at every step.

4

Fittings

Two or three fittings refine the garment on you until every line sits right.

5

Finishing & delivery

Hand-finished, pressed and delivered in a Tezoro garment bag or box.

Most garments are ready in two to four weeks. For weddings, we recommend starting eight to twelve weeks before the first function.
